CAA Driving Weekend

October 19–23 at Johns Island, South Carolina

General Information

It's time for the 2016 CAA Driving Weekend!

We're returning to Mullet Hall Equestrian Center on Johns Island, S.C. (site of the 2014 CAA Driving Weekend) so that members can take advantage of the twenty-plus miles of beautiful carriage trails. Mullet Hall's permanent stalls and bathrooms (with showers) offer the best of accommodations for horses and people. Stalls are available at a special rate of $25 per stall for the duration of your stay.

This casual, fun weekend is open to anyone wanting to bring driving or riding horses. We will have a welcome party on Thursday, October 20, and a casual lunch on Saturday, October 22. CAA Driver Proficiency Evaluations will be available, on a sign-up basis, on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Otherwise, you are free to enjoy the facility as you wish.

Mullet Hall Equestrian Center (www.ccprc.com)

Mullet Hall Equestrian Center at Johns Island County Park boasts 738 acres, with twenty miles of trails. The equestrian center features four sand rings; one grass ring; forty acres of grass fields; and two large open-air, covered barns.

Johns Island, South Carolina's largest sea island, is only about fifteen minutes from downtown Charleston. Also nearby are James Island, Wadmalaw Island, Seabrook Island, and Kiawah Island. Johns Island is separated from the mainland by the tidal Stono River, which forms part of the Intracoastal Waterway. The island is home to the Angel Oak, a 1,400-year-old Southern live oak tree, and is renowned for its scenic natural beauty and wildlife.

Getting There

Whether you're driving or flying, getting to the Charleston area is easy. I-26 terminates in Charleston and intersects with I-20, I-40, I-77, and I-95. U.S. Highway 17 (the coastal N / S route) runs through Charleston and connects with I-95 from the south.

Charles International Airport offers jet service from several carriers and is conveniently located in North Charleston. Nonstop air service is available from Atlanta, Baltimore, Charlotte, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Houston, Miami, Nashville, New York, Newark, Philadelphia, and Washington, DC.

What Else To Do in the Area

While you're in the Charleston area, why not stay an extra day or two and try one or more of these activities:

- tour downtown Charleston by carriage, on foot, or by bus; visit the U.S. Custom House
- take a harbor tour or a fishing trip or visit the Morris Island Lighthouse on Folly Beach;
- walk on the beach, stroll through Charleston's Waterfront Park, or play golf;
- visit the area's plantations and gardens or the Charles Pickney National Historic Site in Mt. Pleasant;
- explore Charleston's shopping and antiques options, including the Old City Market
- visit Charleston's Middleton Place and its gardens and carriage collection (www.middletonplace.org); or
- visit the Charleston Tea Plantation (www.charlestonteaplantation.com).

Also worth noting: the Seabrook Island Equestrian Center (www.seabrookisland.com/equestrian-center) offers short-term boarding and horseback rides on the beach, using their horses or yours if you are boarding there.
